

Rebecca Charlton

TV Presenter, Journalist, Commentator, Voiceover Artist
& Event Host

As a trained journalist, Rebecca contributes to a number of magazines on all things fitness and cycling, and wrote for the record-breaking Rouleur Issue 101. She has also co-written two cycling fitness books with Bloomsbury.

As an active cyclist (having raced many disciplines as a youngster), she has also used her extensive cycling knowledge to mentor and motivate corporate teams to take part in events such as London 2 Paris alongside being a chaperone. She is currently the 'Cycling Ambassador' for Cure Leukaemia.

Rebecca has an I Visa, with authorisation to work in the US until September 2028.

"Rebecca brings a positive energy to our world feed production, she's a dynamic broadcaster who conveys the story to the audience as it unfolds in super quick time. Rebecca's conscientious, both in her research before and during the event and responds well to feedback to ensure she does her best every race. Super League Triathlon is intense and Rebecca's ability to get stuck in and build trust with the athletes and managers has brought that intensity to our screens, helping us appreciate just how exciting an event it is."

Laura Watts: Executive Producer, Aurora Media Worldwide

Rebecca can be found presenting and commentating on channels including Channel 5, YouTube and other digital platforms, most recently lead presenting daily highlights of both the Tour de France and La Vuelta.

She also moderates and hosts large-scale stage panel sessions, awards ceremonies, and Q&As at events such as The National Cycling Show and other corporate functions/brand launches. Having delivered in venue commentary at events such as Ford RideLondon and reporting in the mix of transition at Supertri, she has a wealth of experience to draw upon in a dynamic environment.

Rebecca is also an established podcast host, a regular guest contributor on Cycling Podcast Feminin and Wheeltalk.

After sharing the news that she was expecting her first child in early 2022, Rebecca went both behind the scenes in development and in front of the camera, for the Bump and Ride series with Road CC, documenting her pregnancy journey and sharing valuable experiences. Mila was born in May 2022, and Sofia in January 2025, and Rebecca is loving life as a mum alongside her work.
